

How To Tell the Difference Between a Rodent and a Lagomorph

Lagomorphs have four upper incisors. The second pair is peg-like and posterior to the first pair.

Rodents, such as the one below, only have two upper incisors.

© Cody Arenz, Garry Duncan, & Nebraska Wesleyan University